Art Unit: 2162

(b) processing the standard SQL statement to include add or replace one or more pre-defined attributes of the specified one or more dynamic attributes in the at least one declared cursor with the specified one or more new attributes to dynamically transform the at least one declared cursor[[,]]; and

~~wherein the one or more dynamic attributes are in addition to or in replacement of one or more pre-defined attributes of the at least one declared cursor~~

(c) creating an executable form of the standard SQL statement using the dynamically transformed at least one declared cursor.

2. (Original) The method of claim 1, wherein the option providing step (a) further comprises the steps of (a1) providing an ATTRIBUTES option.

5. (Currently Amended) The method of claim 4, further comprising the step of (e d) resolving one or more conflicting or duplicate attributes.

Art Unit: 2162

6. (Currently Amended) The method of claim 5, further comprising the step of (d e) placing the one or more resolved attributes in a parse tree.

7. (Currently Amended) The method of claim 1, further comprising the step of (e d) utilizing the specified one or more ~~dynamic~~ new attributes in a concatenated string for a dynamic cache system of a database server.

8. (Currently Amended) A system for dynamically changing attributes in an embedded-SQL application, the system comprising:

at least one computer processing device; and a database management system installed on the at least one computer processing device, the database management system supporting provision of an option within a standard SQL statement for specifying one or more ~~dynamic~~ new attributes ~~of~~ for at least one declared cursor, and processing of the standard SQL statement to ~~include~~ add or replace one or more pre-defined attributes of the specified one or more dynamic attributes in the at least one declared cursor with the specified one or more new attributes to dynamically transform the at least one declared cursor, and creation of an executable form of the standard SQL statement using the dynamically transformed at least one declared cursor

~~wherein the one or more dynamic attributes are in addition to or in replacement of one or more pre-defined attributes of the at least one declared cursor.~~

10. (Original) The system of claim 9, wherein provision of an option further comprises provision of an option within a PREPARE SQL statement.

11. (Original) The system of claim 10, wherein processing further comprises parsing the ATTRIBUTES option.

12. (Previously Presented) The system of claim 11, wherein the database management system further supports resolution of one or more conflicting or duplicate attributes.

13. (Previously Presented) The system of claim 12, wherein the database management system further supports placement of the one or more resolved attributes in a parse tree.

14. (Currently Amended) The system of claim 8, wherein the database management system further supports utilization of the specified one or more ~~dynamic~~ new attributes in a concatenated string for a dynamic cache system of a database server.

Art Unit: 2162

15. (Currently Amended) A computer readable medium containing a computer program tangibly stored thereon for dynamically changing attributes in an embedded-SQL application, the computer program comprising instructions for:

providing an option within a standard SQL statement for specifying one or more ~~dynamic~~ new attributes ~~of~~ for at least one declared cursor; and processing the standard SQL statement to ~~include~~ add or replace one or more pre-defined attributes of the specified one or more dynamic attributes in the at least one declared cursor with the specified one or more new attributes to dynamically transform the at least one declared cursor[[,]]; and creating an executable form of the standard SQL statement using the dynamically transformed at least one declared cursor.

16. (Previously Presented) The computer readable medium of claim 15, wherein providing an option further comprises providing an ATTRIBUTES option.

17. (Previously Presented) The computer readable medium of claim 16, wherein providing an option further comprises providing an option within a PREPARE SQL statement.

Art Unit: 2162

18. (Previously Presented) The computer readable medium of claim 17, wherein processing further comprises parsing the ATTRIBUTES option.

19. (Previously Presented) The computer readable medium of claim 18, wherein the computer program further comprises instructions for resolving one or more conflicting or duplicate attributes.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 1-20 are allowed over prior art made of record.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

As to claim 1, None of known prior art alone or in combination either teach or suggest "(a) providing an option within a standard SQL statement for specifying one or more new attributes for at least one declared cursor; (b) processing the standard SQL statement to add or replace one or more pre-defined attributes of the at least one declared cursor with the specified one or more new attributes to dynamically transform the at least one declared cursor" and in conjunction with "(c) creating an executable form of the standard SQL statement using the dynamically transformed at least one declared cursor."

Claims 2-7 are depended on claim 1; therefore, claims 2-7 are allowed under the same reason as to claim 1.

Claim 8 is the system to perform the step of claim 1; therefore, claim 8 is allowed under the same reason as to claim 1.

Claims 9-14 are depended on claim 8; therefore, claims 9-14 are allowed under the same reason as to claim 8.

Claims 15 is the computer readable medium for containing a computer program to perform the step of claim 1; therefore, claim 15 is allowed under the same reason as to claim 1.

Claims 16-20 are depended on claim 15; therefore, claims 16-20 are allowed under the same reason as to claim 15.
